

6th Annual Make Waste History Summit: 15th December 2009

The Assembly Rooms, George Street, Edinburgh

While the world unites at the COP15 climate change conference in Copenhagen we invite you and your pupils to make a difference here in Edinburgh at the 6th Annual Make Waste History Summit. The theme is food and we're delighted to announce our inspirational guest speaker and workshop leader, Fraser Doherty from SuperJam[!].

What will we do?

- Network with other schools and develop opinions on sustainability issues
- Investigate how leading green schools reduce, reuse and recycle
- Be inspired and realise your Eco Schools potential through practical actions
- Develop enterprising ideas for food waste with feedback from top businessman and entrepreneur Fraser Doherty of SuperJam[♥].

Why should we attend?

The day's activities reflect the principles of a Curriculum for Excellence and will assist your school in achieving its Eco Schools ambitions for waste minimisation. The summit is cross-curricular covering science, social science, maths, art and design, expressive arts, citizenship and enterprise.

The event promises to be fun and interactive as you and your pupils participate in networking, sharing ideas and practical aspects of managing waste.

Changeworks' Waste Education Service has successfully organised the Make Waste History Summit for the past five years. This year's summit promises to be an invaluable opportunity for you to Make Waste History.

Sign your school up now for our Curriculum for excellence citizenship conference!

Brilliant, I'm in, what's next?

We invite your school to send a delegation of one teacher and four interested pupils. (The event is most suited to S1-S3 pupils or members of the school eco committee). Let us know if your school will be attending by sending email confirmation (or by completing the attached RSVP slip and returning it), to us by the 23rd of November 2009. Upon acknowledgement of your attendance, further details will follow....

Want to shout about the great work happening in your school?

If so, we may have an opportunity for your school to host a workshop. Share what you've been doing in a fun and interactive way and give your school the recognition it deserves! Your workshop will have 20 active participants, last 45 minutes and be run three times. Get in touch with your ideas ASAP.

Who can we thank for this exciting opportunity?

This event is funded by the City of Edinburgh Council.

We sincerely hope that your school will be represented at this years' event and will be one of the schools leading the way to a more sustainable future through education.

Yours faithfully,
Emily Dodd
